Questions 1 to 5 are based on the following draft document.

TO BIKE OR NOT TO BIKE?

Perhaps the most common reason people give for not cycling is safety in traffic. However, even in large cities, the health benefits of regular cycling are more likely to outweigh the risk of being injured in an accident and it's often the fastest and most reliable way to travel.

In large cities, journeys of less than 5 miles (8km) can be made more quickly and easily by bike. And if we cycled for just some of those journeys we would be helping to reduce congestion and pollution.

All the health professionals agree that cycling is good for you. Regular cyclists have a fitness level equivalent to someone ten years younger and the risk of heart disease is significantly reduced. Contrary to popular belief, if you are sitting in a car, you are exposing yourself to higher levels of vehicle pollution than if you're on a bike.

The risk of having an accident is real, but often over stressed. It is not as great as you may fear. In fact, a cyclist is seriously injured only once every 185,000 cycling miles (300,000 cycling kilometres).

So look out for the blue and white cycle route signs. Cycling is the fastest way to get around town, efficient, good for your health, environmentally friendly and of course it can be great fun!

Museums in London

Arsenal Museum. Avenall Road, London N5. Arsenal station. Open May—July, 9.30am-4pm Fri, Sat; Aug-Apr, 9.30am-4pm Fri. Admission £2 adult; £1 under-16, OAP.

The museum tells the story of the football club. There are plenty of old photos and mementoes— the high spot is a 20 minute film with all the great moments in Arsenal’s illustrious history.

The Bank has just celebrated its third centenary. The huge building covers three acres of central London. Only the outside walls remain of the first Bank on this site, as it was sadly demolished in an enlargement carried out between the wars.

Bethnal Green Museum of Childhood. Cambridge Heath Road, London E2. Bethnal Green station / 8, 106, 53 bus. Open 10am-5.30pm Mon-Thu, Sat; 2.30-5.30pm Sun. Admission free.

This museum was built in 1872 for the benefit of people living in the East End of London. It now displays a colourful collection of historic dolls and dolls’ houses, trains, cars, toy soldiers, puppets, toy theatres and children’s games.

Canal Museum. 12/13 New Wharf Road, London N1. King’s Cross station. Open 10am-4.30pm Tue-Sun. Admission £2 adult; £1.25 children, students, OAP, unwaged.

Small, interesting museum about London’s canals based in a Victorian warehouse. The museum tells the story of the lives of the families who made their living on the canals in the past.

Questions 10 to 14 are based on this draft newspaper article.

It has already played host to one of the most dramatic real life sagas of recent years with its ill-fated Dome – a story of intrigue and disaster that fiction would be hard-pressed to better.

However, Greenwich is now to be the setting for a new soap opera, described as Ally McBeal meets Dawson's Creek, which begins shooting in less than two weeks. Given its associations with failure, it is perhaps not surprising that the Dome won't be granted even a walk-on part.

Instead, Night and Day, the first new soap to be commissioned by ITV for 30 years, will focus on the lives of six families living in the area. The producers are promising household names will star in the final line-up. Gareth Hunt of The Avengers, and Lesley Joseph, from Birds of a Feather, are two names being linked to the project.

The set is being constructed in two massive disused warehouses on an industrial estate in east London. There are more than 40 permanent sets, including a school and halfway house, a sign that ITV is expecting longevity from its new creation.

Night and Day however promises to be a far cry from the traditional soaps such as Eastenders and Coronation Street. Producer Chris Le Grys said: We have told the directors they can break all the rules of soaps. There will be fantasy sequences, split screens and flashbacks. It is going to be funny but there will be also a dark, gothic side to it.

The soap will probably run in a tea-time slot three times a week, and is scheduled to hit our screens in autumn.

10 What would be the most suitable headline for this article?

A  Night and Day Soap Set in West End
B  New Greenwich Soap Set to Beat Dome
C  New Soap to Star Chris Le Grys
D  New TV Soap Set in Disused House
11 In which section of a newspaper would you be most likely to find this article?

D editorial

12 Two commas have been left out by mistake from

A line 1
B line 6
C line 9
D line 17

13 The new TV soap, Night and Day, is to be filmed in

A the Millennium Dome
B two disused warehouses
C an old school
D Dawson's Creek

14 The newspaper is preparing this article for publication because it

A wants to advertise the good things about Greenwich
B knows people are interested in Ally McBeal
C wants to promote English soaps such as Eastenders
D wants to inform readers about a new TV soap opera

Questions 31 to 33 are based on the following information.

Hard to avoid Nicolas Cage

Francis Ford Coppola's nephew may be famous for playing tortured souls and wacky loose cannons, but in his latest movie Nicolas Cage takes on an altogether new challenge. Swapping handguns and leather jackets for a mandolin and an Italian army uniform, Cage plays a romantic hero in the film adaptation of a little-known book by one Louis de Bernières.

To Anwar Brett in What's On in London on getting to grips with Captain Corelli: “There were so many things I had to do and learn: how to march, how to sing opera, how to conduct, how to play the mandolin, how to talk like an Italian. I would rehearse, do my scenes and then I would go lock myself away and try to practise. I think in some instances some might have thought I was anti-social, because I was so busy trying to get this character together in two weeks.”

To Andy Dougan in the Evening Times on the curse of Cephalonia: “I heard that about the island ... They say if you stay any length of time, you have bad dreams. I did have pretty violent dreams while I was there. I dreamt about soldiers killing one another, so you can read into that what you will.”

To Sarah Bailey in Time Out on being old-fashioned: “I think it's always sexier to leave more to the imagination than not. A lot of taste today in film-making borderlines on the vulgar. I think that whole kind of romantic hero who has dignity and chivalry is dead. It's not as important as it once was, but it's important to me. It's important to me to be a gentleman.”

To Xan Brooks in the Guardian on the theory that you can't be both an actor and a movie star: “It's just absurd. All of my favourite actors were movie stars. What makes a movie star is somebody who is one of a kind, whose voice you can imitate. Humphrey Bogart. James Cagney. Marlon Brando. Clint Eastwood. They're fascinating to watch and to listen to. That doesn't make them bad actors. That just makes them idiosyncratic and unique.”

To Andrew Billen in the London Evening Standard on thespian compulsion: “Acting to me is therapy. It is medicine, and that's why I think I act — out of need and necessity as opposed to just want. I think in a lot of ways it's saved me. I know that sounds dramatic but if it wasn't for it, I think I might have really had problems with the law, or anything. I could have gone the wrong way but, because I had this place to release my feelings, it kept me on track.”

Questions 34 to 36 are based on the following draft text.

VEHICLE EXCISE DUTY - VED - “Car Tax”

Which cars qualify?
Brand new cars registered from 1st March 2001 will be taxed in a different way. VED (car tax) will be based on a vehicle’s carbon dioxide (CO₂) emission figure and the type of fuel they use. A low CO₂ output means greater fuel efficiency, so you won’t just be helping the ________, you’ll also make substantial savings in tax and running costs. A four band system will apply to each fuel type.

How much will I pay?
To help you identify the duty you will pay, DVLA (Driver and Vehicle Licensing Agency) has banded the four categories.

What if my car was registered before 1st March 2001?
All cars registered before this date will continue to be taxed under the existing system (by engine size). For further information on changes to the existing system see leaflet INF83.

Where can I find details of my car’s CO₂ emission figure?
Information on CO₂ figures for particular model types and VED to be charged can be found on the website www.dvla.gov.uk
